Why people join...

"I need someone to help me think about my career, special training, and how to function in private practice or at an agency."

"My graduate program ignited my interest in psychodynamic psychotherapy but how is it relevant in an age of managed care?"

"A supportive, professional community that believes I can make a contribution to this field feels really good to me."

"I am focusing on earning my hours. The Society gives me the benefit of being connected to the Institute without committing to classes right away."

MENTORING

Your 12-month membership allows you to meet four times with your mentor who is an experienced clinician and candidate in analytic training. Mentors know the rigors of being a student and are eager to support your professional growth.

"Having access to a friendly, helpful mentor at this stage of my career is invaluable to me. My mentor is patiently helping me to find my unique voice as a clinician."

ACCESS TO TRAINING

Students receive a discount on all professional seminars hosted by LAISPS throughout the year. Members of the Student Society may also participate in special certificate programs in psychodynamic psychotherapy, trauma studies and eating disorders.

COMMUNITY

Four times a year, student members are invited to attend informal educational meetings in which exciting psychoanalytic material is presented by experienced clinicians, and students can network and debrief in a supportive environment. Refreshments are served and students are presented with a special membership gift at the first meeting. Student members are also warmly invited to attend LAISPS' annual Open House.
